

What support will there be for my child's overall well-being?

Teachers are responsible for the day to day pastoral care of all pupils in their care. If the well-being of a pupil is of concern to a parent or teacher then they will initially discuss this together, unless the concern is a safeguarding concern that may put the pupil in danger.

If there is a child protection concern raised about a child then the Designated Officer for Child Protection (the Head teacher) will act upon the concern following the School's Child Protection and Safeguarding Policy.

Every teacher has a 'worry box' within their classroom that the pupils will be aware of and can use to access help and support from their teacher.

The pupils can talk to any member of staff they are comfortable with about an emotional, mental health or social problem they may have.

The children have regular assemblies and PSHCE lessons on looking after their well-being and strategies are given for taking care of themselves with support from others.
